

MY STORY, A CHOICE FOR HEALTH & HEALING!

NOT JUST...ANOTHER CANCER STORY!

Lots of you out there have been reading and watching “cancer stories”. You read the reports of the rich and famous being diagnosed. They make the internet and tabloid headlines. Names like Christina Applegate, Lance Armstrong, Sheryl Crow, Elizabeth Edwards, Farrah Fawcett, John Kerry, Amy Mickelson, Suzanne Somers and Patrick Swayze. Now they even film their own docudrama about what it’s like to treat cancer following the standard treatments. Then you have your own personal stories--your family, friends, or you have just been diagnosed!

Those of you who’ve been buying our products know something about me and that I AM a survivor of Advanced Stage 3 Ovarian Cancer since March of 2000! I’m going to try to explain about my choice of “natural healing”. I hope you’ll feel encouraged and realize that good health and healing is your choice to make!

Think about this startling fact-- we have gone from 1 in 8000 cases of cancer being diagnosed in the 1900’s to 1 in 2 in present day! So what has changed? Simple, everything that is being processed by man is being altered, contaminated, injected, and polluted with dyes, hormones, pesticides, preservatives, and synthetic chemicals! Our bodies are on toxic overload causing the immune system to breakdown and not function the way it was intended to!

Standard medicine then tells you to choose to administer more extremely harsh and potent chemical drugs to “treat” your “disease”. Could it be that your “disease” is already the result of years of what you have been breathing, eating, and using in and around your body? My belief is, yes, almost all disease is due to a toxic condition of the body. After all, the body truly is a large elimination and filtration system. It was designed to repair itself! But most of us have grown up around these chemicals and lived on processed food. These things are not natural and do not assist and support the body.

Things like chemotherapy—now read it this way—CHEMICAL TREATMENT, hurts other healthy organs and causes new disease and new illness. Oh, yes, if you haven’t read our page on “about us” then you need to know, that I have never taken ANY chemotherapy or radiation—and never will.

I chose natural healing and in my definition that does not mean alternative medicine! Natural healing has always existed. It means that YOU assist your body to create the environment that was originally designed for it to repair (heal). You do this by learning to clean and detoxify the body of years of using harmful ingredients and then by eating foods that truly offer nutritional support. Natural healing means that you make a choice to discipline yourself to turn away from the destructive choices of modern man.

Did I go to battle against my cancer? YOU BET! Did I lose my hair, vomit after treatments, and cause new damage to other organs? Never! Did the oncologist say I would survive that particular cancer? NO! He specifically said that I would be dead soon (2 Months), no matter what my choice!! Sound familiar?

I have come to realize that too many people still don't know and understand how the human body works. I'm not talking scientifically or theoretically. I'm just speaking of the whole person--your body, mind and soul. Natural healing is about empowering yourself with the knowledge of how we were meant to heal and then being responsible enough to make a choice to change and take charge of your own life!

God puts knowledge and wisdom before us many times in life and through many circumstances. You have to trust Him and put aside your fears and reach out and accept the gift of healing that was already created in each one of us. I believe it was God's plan for me to experience healing and then to inform and encourage others that other options are available. Remember, this is not just about what they call "cancer", your body is a whole and I'm speaking virtually of all "disease".

I continue to have a deep passion and interest in healing and helping others to see that they too can choose to heal. Through the years that we have had this business, my husband, Paul and I have tried to re-educate everyone about the importance of using pure household and personal care products without all the chemicals. We also recommend that you eat organic whole foods and juice as much as possible. We offer help in learning how to detoxify your body.

For years we have done local meetings and consultations sharing our knowledge of natural healing; now we would like to offer these same consultations to you in the comfort of your home by phone. We will teach you what to look for in your food supply and all your product purchases; which ingredients are most harmful and destructive to your body. If you are facing health issues, I will work with you on a personal program to detoxify and add wholesome nutrition to your lifestyle.

We want to empower you with great healthy choices to prevent disease and illness in your children, your family, and yourself! Good health is about the "quality" of the life that you live! So, if you're willing to make the changes and be responsible for your own health, then we're glad you stopped in and look forward to talking with you soon!! May God Truly Bless YOU...Like He has Blessed US!!
